Welcome to the Autumn Term!

We are very excited to welcome all the children back for another exciting year.

Curriculum Offer:

The children in The Nest and Blossom follow bespoke, individualised programmes that ensure learning that suits individual requirements and needs. We have also opened a new SEN provision this year called Ivy – this is more targeted support for children in mainstream classrooms who require a little more help with their core subjects.

You will often see our children out and about around school benefitting from a range of activities which include: rebound therapy, sensory provision, messy play, kinaesthetic maths and English lessons and immersive wider curriculum offers.

We spend a significant amount of our learning time working on emotional regulation and communication. We use The Zones of Regulation to help us identify our emotions and learn new ways to communicate our feelings to others. If you are lucky enough to pop into our classes, you will see that we use a range of communication devices to help us make sure we can tell others what we need.

We love coming to Brockswood Primary and enjoy interacting with our peers on the playground at break and lunch time.

If your child has been issued with a reading record and a book, please can we ask that you read with them at least three times a week. Record what they have read and sign the record. This extra reading really helps their confidence and progress immeasurably. Thank-you for your anticipated support in this vital area.

Whilst we are more flexible with regards dietary requirements, please can you refrain from sending in ANY products containing nuts – we have a number of life-threatening allergies in school.

As a SEN department, we will always endeavour to send out separate communication regarding activities which impact your children.

We are looking forward to working with all the children and look forward to seeing you during parent consultations.

Yours sincerely,

Blossom, The Nest and Ivy Team
